Descendants of Aurie Kanaghowende Hill

Generation 1

1. Aurie Kanaghowende\(^1\) Hill was born about 1660 in pr. Ossernonen, South Bank, Mohawk Valley, New York, USA. He died after 28 Dec 1735 in pr. Auriesville, NY, USA. He married Catharinah. She was born about 1660 in pr. South Bank, Mohawk Valley, New York, USA.

Notes for Aurie Kanaghowende Hill:

Aurie (Arie) was baptised with his wife Catharina, mother Maria, and mother - in - law Sarah at the Schenectady Dutch Reformed Church, 05 October 1700. He is the progenitor of the very prolific Hill family which are still numerous today both on the Six Nations Reserve in Brant County, and the Tyendinaga Reserve in Hastings County, Ontario, Canada. In addition, there are numerous descendants of many surnames now spread across North America and beyond.

It appears that Aurie's Creek in Montgomery County, New York, on the Mohawk Flats across from the Lower Mohawk Village on the west side of Schoharie Creek was named after this man. Even in much later times it was recalled that the creek derived it's name from,

The creek flows by a hill with a sharp perpendicular wall known as Caudaughrita. It appears that family derived its surname from the geographical circumstance of residing near this hill. Two separate accounts provided by Hill family members in the nineteenth century give this same story of how the surname came into being. This version gains support from eighteen century record sources as diverse as the Papers of Sir William Johnson and the Jelles Fonda Account Books. Here Aaron is referred to as "of the hill" by Johnson in English, and as "van der barrick" by Fonda in Dutch. Both have exactly the same meaning. By the end of the eighteenth century the "of the" had been dropped, and the surname became simply "Hill".

Notes for Catharinah:

Catharina was baptised at the Schenectady Dutch Reformed Church with her husband Aurie, mother Sarah, and mother - in - law Maria on 05 October 1700.

   Notes for Aaron Oseraghete Hill:

   It is unclear as to whether Aaron is of the Turtle or Wolf clans.

   Notes for Margaret Konwatyennih Crine (Green):

   Margaret's brother Johannes Schrine (Crine, Green) was known as "White Hans", apparently reflecting his light colouration. It is likely that their mother Anna was a French or English settler captured by the Mohawks. Patrick Campbell, in his diary written in 1792, specifically noted that Margaret's son Captain David Hill was of mixed Mohawk and European ancestry.

   Aaron Oseraghete Hill and Margaret Konwatyennih Crine (Green) had the following children:

Peter and Mary Katehriunigh Hill had the following child:

i. ELIZABETH\(^6\) was born about 02 Feb 1746.

Notes for Margaret Kayadontyi Hill:
Although the Johnson Papers make note that Nicholas was waiting for "his uncle White Hans" Johannes Crine Anequendahonji of the Astawenserontha Bear Clan, this is almost certain to refer to the uncle of his wife Margaret.

Notes for Nicholas Canadiorha Brant:
The name appears to be Onondaga. In Evert Wendell's account book there is an entry for an Onondaga boy, Kanaedeijorhae. Nicholas's clan was Beaver (Draper Papers). This was triple checked and so he was likely of Onondaga and or Huron ancestry (both have Beaver clans). John Norton reported in his diary that Joseph Brant's ancestors on both the mother and father's side were Wyandot (Huron) captives adopted by the Mohawk. The Onondaga adopted many Huron after the raids of the 1640s, as did the Mohawk. Joseph Brant's son Joseph also reported that his father's father was an Onondaga - although this may be the biological father Peter rather than the adoptive father Brant. Nicholas appears to have had ties at Schoharie (a very multicultural settlement led by those from Caughnawaga and likely Huron) where he had one of his children baptised in 1758, and was also a sponsor for a child of his likely sibling in the same year, it being noted that Nicholas and Margaret were from Canajoharie.

A condolence ceremony was held at Ft. Stanwix 6 November 1768 during a time when most Mohawks were in attendance. A black belt of wampum was given to "cover his grave" (symbolically). It cannot be asserted that Nickus died there, however, since these ceremonies tended to address these issues of mourning for chiefs who died since the last Council meeting.

It is possible that his children assumed the surname Brant or Claus (a contraction of Nicholas) or Hill due to his wife or perhaps no surname (most Mohawk did not use surnames at this time).

She married NICHOLAS COTTER.

Notes for Paulus Sahonwadi:
In October 1775, Rev. John Stuart "reappointed" Paulus as reader at the Upper Castle, Canajoharie. On 10 October 1781 Daniel Claus reported that the building constructed in Montreal (Lachine) for Rev. Stuart to minister to the Mohawks then settled there, which "in Week days serves for a School for their children, which is carefully attended by one Paulus Sahonwadi, a Fort Hunter Indian who is very capable in that employ" as a schoomaster. On 7 August 1785 Paulus Sahon wadi wrote a letter in Mohawk to Claus providing information of the situation at the Grand River, where many wanted him to take up the work of teaching again. He added, "I now have four children - two boys - and these are their names: Margaret, Paul, Peter and Mary."

In 1780 Claus began a new version of the Mohawk Prayer Book which was published in 1787. Paulus Sahonwadi, the Mohawk sachem and schoolmaster was present to ensure the proper binding of the pages. Hence Paulus must have been in London in 1786, where the book was published, with Joseph Brant who was present to supervise the project. A plate from this book, published in Johnston's book (1964), shows a Mohawk schoolmaster with his pupils. This is likely Paulus who is depicted. Paulus Sahonwadi was one of the Mohawk Chiefs who, on 26 February 1787 signed the "Mohawk Deed" to the Nelles, Young, Huff and Dochstader families. This is the last occasion when Paulus appears in any record, and so he presumably died soon thereafter.

Tiononderge, Lower Mohawk Village, New York, USA. He died about 1812 in pr. Mohawk Village, Brant County, Ontario. He married CATHARINE DEYOTWANE. She died after 31 Jul 1823.

Notes for Paulus Shagoyadiyostha / Karonghyontye:
Paulus appears to have signed his first name on the 1789 deed from the Mohawks formerly of Canajoharie, and someone added in Shagoyadiosta. This is a Astawenserontha Bear Clan name according the the Seth Newhouse Manuscript. Oddly, both he and his cousin Margaret Hill who married Paulus Sahonwadi had male children of the same name and in the same order. Peter and Paul (Powless) who resided at or near the Mohawk Village.

It appears that Paulus inherited the “high status” name of his uncle David Hill, Karonghyontye, in 1790. He still used his original name in some deeds but in those available, from 1808 to 1810 he used his inherited title. He disappears from the records at this time, and after 1812 his cousin’s son, Paul Powless, exchanged his given name of Onwaneharon for Karonghyontye.

Paulus Shagoyadiyostha / Karonghyontye and Catharine Deyotwanea had the following children:
33. i. PAULUS was born in 1779 in Canajoharie, Upper Mohawk Village, NY. He died after 1852 in pr. Mohawk Village, Brant County, Ontario. He married MARGARET BRANT. She was born in 1788. She died on 23 Nov 1860 in pr. Mohawk Village, Brant County, Ontario.

15. ISAAC KARONGHYONTYE / BRANT (Margaret Kayadontyi Hill, Aaron Oseraghete Hill, Cornelius Thannewanege Hill, Aurie Kanaghowende Hill) was born about 1756 in pr. Canajoharie, Upper Mohawk Village, New York, USA. He died about 1809 in pr. Sandusky, Ohio. He married SISTER OF CHARLIEU.

Notes for Francis Tahatonne Cotter:
In 1815 there was a fourth Bear Clan / Tribe title and associated with the ancient sachemship, Astawenserontha, created perhaps at the beginning of the War of 1812 for reasons not stated in any extant record. The title was Tahatonne and was held by Francis Cotter. In documents both before and after, this name does not appear - except in the obituary of his apparent successor, Warner Henry Nelles. In a petition sent to Indian Department officials 9 January 1814, the Six Nations Chiefs listed Cotter as being among a group of Mohawks who acted in an "Unbecoming manner" by refusing to fight the enemies of the King, and so they recommended that he not receive any of "His Majesty's bounty" - annuity payments. This appears to be part of an ongoing feud between the Lower Mohawks and Upper Mohawks. Cotter and 8 other Mohawk chiefs blamed this schism on the behavior of the Lower Mohawks formerly of Fort Hunter, where members of the Upper Mohawks formerly of Canajoharie "are treated like outcasts" (Indian Affairs, RG10 Series, Vol. 118, p. 169562, no date but before November 1818). Francis Cotter is thus an Upper Mohawk chief. Hence, as of about 1816, Cotter appears to have been "shunned", both by the factionalism within the Mohawk community and by his behavior during the War of 1812. Doubtless at some point Cotter would have been "dehorned" - his chiefship removed and given to a more suitable candidate from within the matrilineal family, either due to his behavior or his departure for the Detroit area. The evidence shows that on 17 February 1816 Francis Cotter was still a "Principle Chief" when he signed a certificate (Archives of Ontario, Street Papers, MU2928) - it being noted with an asterix that he was among those still living 14 April 1835. On 8 November 1843 Abraham Kennedy Smith of Brantford petitioned to have lands he possessed confirmed. On 13 April 1817 he had paid Margaret Cotter, mother of Chief Francis Cotter and Nicholas Cotter, Mohawks, for lands owned by the family. The chiefs in council validated the sale on 12 May 1817, but none of the Cotters was then present suggesting that they had by then (i.e., April 1817) moved (Indian Affairs, RG10 Series, Vol. 120, p. 4834). An Indian Department document specifically stated that sometime before 27 November 1818, Francis Cotter had "gone to Detroit", specifically the Wyandot settlement at Amherstberg, Anderdon Township where his son Nicholas, later counselor of the Nation to Washington in 1875, was born in 1822; later moving to the Wyandott Purchase in Kansas where he died 29 September 1852. It seems odd that he would join the Wyandot Nation, unless he had connections there of some sort. According to Phillip Henhawk, Tahatonne may mean, "Hither He Grows".

In the Fall of 1830 a Wyandot named Soodenooks killed another man and was sentenced to death but the vote of all eligible men of the tribe. Of the six members of the firing squad, one was Francis Cotter.

Francis Cotter Sr. was among those who removed from Upper Sandusky to Kansas in 1843. In his household there were 2 over age 25 and 6 under age 25.

3 January 1848 William Walker signs the recommendation for F. Cotter to operate the Shawnee Ferry.

Notes for Warner Henry Tahanata Nelles:
Warner Henry seems to have had a bit of a checkered career, from an Indian chief, highly respected military officer, prominent figure in the social life of St. Catharines (see obituary below), to an accused murderer. With respect to the latter, despite the accolades noted below, it appears that in his earlier days Warner H. became involved in at least one incidence of violence - in this case to the point where he killed a neighbour (who was also a cousin). In November of 1822 Warner and Peter Young went to a party at the home of John Young on the Grand River. They began to argue. A fight ensued, and Warner struck Young on the side of his head with an open hand - killing Young. From then until at least January 1823 Warner was in Jail in Niagara awaiting trial - being eventually acquitted (NAC, RG 1, E3, Vol. 56, pp. 116-121). He seems to have bounced back from this incident since he became a Colonel in the militia (see below), and by 1846 a magistrate (St. Catharine's Public Library, Nelles File, Smith's Canadian Gazatter 1846).

During the 1881 census, Warner Henry (a Farmer), wife Sarah, and son Howard (a Surveyor), all Methodists, were enumerated in Grantham, Lincoln County.

Warner Henry signed his will on 11 September 1896. The probate papers give his date of death as 9 October 1896. Herein he mentions his daughter Charlotte Taylor, bequeathing to her all his cash and monies owed, as well as all his personal effects. He directed his executors to sell 8 acres off the southwest corner of his homestead farm being the south part of Lot 15, Concession 4, Grantham Township - the entire lot being 30 acres. The rest of the property was to go to friend Robert Jones, with the provision that he pay legacies to Charlotte Taylor, and his five grandchildren - namely, Marion Nelles, Kate Nelles, Annie Beshgetoor the wife of Rev. Horace Beshgetoo, John Lewis Taylor, and Gertrude Ball (AO, Lincoln County, Surrogate Register 10, No. 1866, p. 701).

1896 OBITUARY:

"Col. Nelles Buried."

Sketch of his long life - He was made the Chief of a tribe of Indians - His great physical powers.

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 12 (Special). Col. Warner Henry Nelles, who died here on Friday in his 98th year, was buried to-day, there was a large attendance at the service.
The following is a short sketch of his career:-

In 1776 before the war of Independence, Henry William Nelles son of old Hendrick Nelles, the first of that name who came to America, feeling his German heart would not allow him to take up arms against Great britain decided to go to Canada and make a home for himself and family.

Accordingly, he, with his sons Robert, William, John, Warner, Abram, and Peter with five slaves, started in canoes, via the Mohawk River to Fort Plain. From there, they passed over the portage from wood Creek, and on into Oneida. Later, from there they commenced that long and arduous journey by the Oswego River to Fort Oswego, and up Lake Ontario to the Niagara River, where they landed. They tested the soil here, and finally pushed on to Grimsby, the father saying to his sons "Here we shall make our home". After peace was declared the American Government offered them their land back if they would return to the United States. All except Peter remained in Canada. His heart yearned for his old home, so, leaving friends and kindred he returned and claimed the lands left by his father and Mother, The old Palatine Church in New York State, which still stands until this day, was built on land given by Hendrick William Nelles.

The subject of this sketch, colonel Warner Henry Nelles of Grantham, who passed away on Friday morning at the advanced age of 97 years and 5 months, was a great-grandson of the above named Hendrick William Nelles. The deceased was born in Haldimand County, May 2nd, 1799. He was educated at Grimsby by the Rev. Mr. Fell, took his first commission as a lieutenant of the First Regiment of Haldimand Militia in 1822 which commission was signed by Sir Peregrine Maitland. He was made captain of the First Regiment of Light Infantry, a company he raised in two days in 1838. His commission was signed by Sir George Arthur. His last commission as Lieutenant - Colonel was signed by Sir Edmund W. Head in 1859.
His popularity as a young man may be judged when, being only seventeen, he was made a chief of a tribe of Indians called the Beavers. Upon the death of the old chief, they saluted him as Tahanata, and the chain of wampum they threw over his head is still in the family. Up to the end of his death he was still recognized as chief, though the tribe is greatly scattered. He was married at York in 1825 to Sarah Uhlein and they enjoyed sixty eight years of a happy life together, his partner passing away about four years ago. He leaves one daughter only, Mrs. Taylor, and several grand-children: two of whom reside on Chestnut Street in this City, the Misses Nelles; Mrs. P.S. Ball, Niagara-on-the-Lake; and Mr. J. Lewis Taylor, of Santa Barbara, California.

To show the great physical powers of Col. Nelles, some six or seven years ago, when the colonel was more than 90 years of age, he walked from his home, near St. Catharines to Niagara-on-the-Lake, a distance of more than eleven miles to visit an old friend, the late Mr. Alma."

It appears that the informant for the information that appears in the obituary made a couple of mistakes. On 22 February 1815 George Martin, a Mohawk chief, wrote a list of all the Principle (hereditary sachems) and War chiefs for each of the three Mohawk Tribes (clans). In every list before and after there have been three sachems for each clan, relating to the principle families. Here there is a number four sachem linked with a bracket to Astawenserontha (the Hill family lineage). So after 3. John Johnson Astawenserontha is 4. Francis Cotter Tahatonne. It appears that around the time of the War of 1812, in addition to 5 war chiefs, there were 4 hereditary sachems for the Bear Tribe. The obituary informat(s) gave the Tribe as Beaver (it was Bear) and the sachemship as Tahanata (it was Tahatonne). The latter was a simple switch of the last two syllables. None of the children of Nelles grew up on the Grand River so it is debatable how much they knew about their father's Native heritage. The Cotter family left the Grand River about 1816 to reside among the Wyandot of Amherstburg, thereby opening up the sachemship. Reg Henry translated Tahatonne / Tahanata as, "He is putting pine trees between". It appears to be equivalent to the man's name in the Akwesasne Mohawk dialect, Tehanetorens, "He walks through the pines". A modern interpretation is probably "Between the pine trees". However Phillip Henhawk sees them as two different names. Tahanata means "Towards his Village", and "Tahatonne" means "Hither he Grows".
